

Probationary and Trial Period Employees: Resources and Information

- Probationary and trial period employees are entitled to a written notice on why you are being separated and the effective date for the separation.
- Probationary and trial period employees within the Competitive Service and those serving under certain Veteran appointments may have the right to appeal your termination.
- Information for Probationary and Trial Period Employees (In particular, read the section entitled “What are my due process rights if I am terminated during my probationary period in the competitive service?”)
- Discussion of Legal Rights of Probationary and Trial Period Employees